

*We built King of Peace
to be different*

King of Peace is a vibrant new church (started in 2000). We are strong and growing congregation. We offer you a chance to make friends, build a stronger family, and get connected to God.

We are as Christian as Christian can be believing the Bible to contain all things necessary for salvation and proclaiming the faith of the Christian church proclaimed in the ancient statements of faith: The Nicene Creed and The Apostle's Creed. You won't find strange beliefs at King of Peace. You will find a welcoming group of Christians who gather to worship together and to learn to draw closer to our loving God.

Episcopal Church • Kingsland, Georgia

We value questions.

We won't yell at you.

Or tell you what to think.

Really!

Explore your spirituality

No matter where you are on your own spiritual journey, King of Peace offers a safe place to ask questions and explore what you believe. We find a great source of spiritual strength in the worship of the Episcopal Church. There is greater spiritual depth in the centuries of Christian tradition than many people realize. King of Peace offers educational opportunities geared at helping you find new ways to express your spirituality.

Learn about the faith

We offer a variety of ways to learn more about the Christian faith. These include our Wednesday evening studies. Recent and upcoming topics include: a study of Heretics, Christian Ethics, Beyond The DaVinci Code, and a study of the Book of Revelation. We also have a women's group, youth group, a once a month mini-Vacation Bible School called Kids in the Kingdom Sundays and more.

Camden County is also home to an Episcopal Camp and Conference Center with lots of great programs through the year which we take part in including a summer camp for kids and retreats for teens and adults.

If you were that kid who annoyed your Sunday School teachers by asking too many questions, King of Peace may be the perfect church for you.

Values of King of Peace

As individuals, we all have things in life that we value. Knowing what you value helps keep priorities in order. Groups have values as well as individuals and keeping those values in mind can help guide a group in its common mission. The following reflect not individual values, but the values of King of Peace as a congregation. They are the cornerstones of our common life, that guide the decision making of the group.

❖ Relationships

We want to build a lasting relationship with God and with one another. Inviting people into a relationship with God, as known through Jesus Christ, is the most important thing we do.

❖ Relevance

We value preaching and teaching that is relevant to today. The preaching and teaching all finds its center in the Bible, and works from the scripture to show how God's word applies to our lives.

❖ Worship

We believe that gathering together to worship should be, at the same time, a fun celebration and a chance for a holy encounter. The worship of the gathered community is the center of our life together.

❖ Scripture

We believe that the Bible is the Word of God and can help us see how to gain meaning and purpose in our lives through a relationship with God as revealed in the person of Jesus Christ.

❖ Hospitality

We know that strangers are a gift to us as a congregation. We welcome newcomers, knowing that we will never be all we can become as a church without continually welcoming new people and new ideas.

❖ Children

We know that children are not the future of the church, but the present. Children are an important part of the church right now. We need to minister to children and be prepared to be ministered to by children. Taking part in church is based on ability, not age.

❖ Ministry of all persons

Ministry is a job for all people, not just professionals. The ministry of the church is led by the ordained persons, but all Christians are to take an active part in ministry both in and outside of the church.
