Grace for Children

A brief grace with hand motions, as follows:
- God bless us (hands on head)
- God bless the food (hands on plate)
- Amen (hands folded)

Thank you, God, for loving me.
Thank you for my family.
Help me to learn more each day
To be kind at work and play.
Amen.

Thank you Jesus for this food and for this time together. Amen.

God is great, God is good.
Let us thank him for our food.
By his hands, we are fed.
Let us thank him for our bread.
Amen.

Or

God is great, God is good.
Let us thank him for our food.
By his hands, we are fed.
Let us thank him for our bread.
Amen.

Another option is to not use a spoken grace but to encourage each person to take turns giving thanks their own way. One way that we do this is with a “squeeze prayer.” Holding hands, each person prays, then squeezes the next hand when finished.

Singing Grace

This grace is sung to the tune “Edelweiss” from “The Sound of Music”:

Bless our friends,
Bless our food,
Come, O Lord and sit with us.

May our talk
Glow with peace;
Come with your love to surround us.

Friendship and love
May they bloom and glow,
Bloom and glow forever.

Bless our friends,
Bless our food,
Bless all mankind forever.

It was once the custom to give thanks after a meal. So, if you occasionally forget to say grace before you start, you can always give thanks before leaving the table.

It is most appropriate to pause before a meal to give thanks to God for the food and all of God's gifts to us. When others join you for a meal, you may want to be creative in deciding how to say grace.

* Everyone can hold hands seated or standing around the table.
* Each person may be given a chance to give thanks for something special.
* The children can say grace for the group.
* One person can say grace aloud for the group.
* The group can say grace together using copies of a prayer placed around the table in advance.

There is a sort of table grace attributed to Oliver Cromwell:

Some have hunger, but no meat; Some have meat, but no hunger; I have both. God be praised!
